Book donation spreads the essence of knowledge.

Deepen friendship through collaborative construction, nurturing ideas through donating books. To thoroughly implement the spirit of the 20th National Congress of the Communist Party, and in a desire to diversify the cultural life of Hutou Village's residents, Qipaifang branch is dedicated to fostering a positive reading environment by constructing a "Scholarly Community". It has donated a total of 246 books to the Hutou Village branch, covering categories such as Party-building textbooks, agricultural science, classic literature, popular science knowledge, and healthcare. This contribution significantly enriches the villagers' library resources. The aim is to cultivate a strong learning atmosphere in Hutou Village, where residents are encouraged to enjoy reading, read quality books, and benefit from the knowledge gained. Through this effort, it is hoped to strengthen the exchange of ideas with villagers by mutual learning and promotion, joint construction and advancement.

Volunteer service warms the heart on winter days

The chilling wind cannot resist the warm affection, and the freezing winter cannot withstand the heartfelt comfort and care. To carry forward the traditional Chinese virtues of respecting, loving, honoring, and assisting the elderly, and to advocate the spirit of volunteer service in the new era, members of the Qipaifang branch, together with the Hutou Village branch, diligently carried out volunteer activities in that afternoon. With concerted efforts, they cleaned the road, repaired facilities, and assisted with farm work for the elderly villagers in Hutou Village.

The collaborative efforts for Party-building activity has strengthened the communication between the two Parties, and thus achieved a positive outcome in terms of unity and mutual promotion. Going forward, both parties will further strengthen exchanges and mutual learning by locating the point of entry for "leaning on party building to promote rural vitalization". Both parties will make best of their respective resource advantages, and establish a shared list of resources, projects, and needs. This collaboration will encompass comprehensive and deep cooperation in various areas, including business exchanges, technical guidance, rural planning, Party-building activities, consumer support, environmental improvement, and cultural construction. Both parties are committed to actively exploring new ideas, new content, and new methods, thus striving to carve a new path for increasing villagers' income and their gains collectively, as well as improving enterprise efficiency. Eventually, more remarkable achievements will be yielded through concerted construction.
